IRRIGATION SYSTEM UPDATE

As you may be aware, the irrigation system was completely shut down and non-functional for the better part of a month. This of course was a necessity and out of the control of the Board or Management.

Unfortunately, upon notification of allowing us to re-fire the system, we discovered that all of the programming had been deleted. The Firelight irrigation system is notoriously difficult to manage, single-sourced, and antiquated. It consists of “ghost-clocks” that do not communicate with secondary irrigation clocks efficiently.

Given the size of the campus and the systems limitations, we usually take 2-3 weeks each spring to program and start-up the system. This year, given the circumstances, we were forced to go through the process a second time mid-summer.

The timing of this could not have been worse and we apologize to owners for the dry-spots and/or lack of performance from the system throughout this shutdown & re-fire. As of July 24th we are happy to announce that the system is up and running & back on track.
